(Main theme from True Detective)

[Am] x4

[Am] From the dusty [Am] May sun, [Am+C] Her [E7] looming shadow [E7] grows
[Dm] Hidden in the [Dm] branches of the [Am] poison creosote [Am]
[C] She twines her spines up [C] slowly, To-[G]-wards the boiling [G] sun
[Dm] And when I touched her [F] skin, My [Am] fingers ran with [Am] blood

[Am] x4

[Am] In the hushing dusk under [Am+C] a [E7] swollen silver [E7] moon
[Dm] I came walking [Dm] with the wind to [Am] watch the cactus [Am] bloom [Am]
[C] A strange hunger [C] halted me, the [G] looming shadows [G] danced
[Dm] I fell down to the [F] thorny brush and [Am] felt the trembling [Am] hands

[Am] x4

[Am] When the last light [Am] warms the rocks, And the [E7] rattlesnakes un-[E7]-fold
[Dm] Mountain cats will [Dm] come to [Am] drag away your [Am] bones [Am]
And [C] rise with me for-[C]-ever, A-[G]-cross the silent [G] sand
And the [Dm] stars will be your [F] eyes, And the [Am] wind will be my [Am] hands
